✓ Since we talked with you about our general employment outlook, our personnel office has explored the possibilities of an opening which might be of interest to you. However, the result was such as [redacted] predicted and we have not located anything which would measure up to your executive background.

We appreciate having had the opportunity to consider your joining the Agency and regret to advise you that the present prospects are not encouraging. If something suitable should materialize in the reasonably near future, we shall get in touch with you regarding your interest.

Sincerely,

Executive Officer
